

Free Consultation

Let's meet to see if we are the best fit for your professional needs. Contact me TODAY to make an appointment for a free 30 minute consultation. In order to prepare for our first meeting, please consider your responses to the following questions.

- Are you eligible to receive art therapy supervision? Can you provide a resume with proof of relevant academic training?
- Do you have malpractice and liability insurance?
- Are you interested in attaining the ATR-Provision credential?
- Do you plan to take the Art Therapy Credential Board Examination?
- Are you employed at a place where you can gain your hours? Will you need help in this area?
- Are you currently acquiring hours for another credential? Do you have an employer-designated supervisor for those hours? Do you have a time line for completing your hours?
- What is your work and volunteer experience?
- What is your experience as an artist?
- What are your professional and academic goals?
- What other resources and support do you have or what is your current practice for self-care?

Whether you are a candidate for individual, group, or distance supervision, here is what you can expect:

- Customized plan for completing hours for art therapy registration.
- Art-based approach focused on imagery, art-making and other creative modalities brought into each session.
- Compliance with ATCB code of ethics and conduct, including safety standards related to technology, information transfer, and confidentiality.
- Honest feedback of work and skills.
- A strengths-based approach to support your specific professional goals and develop your own authentic expression as a therapist.

If you choose to retain my services, you will be required to sign a contract that includes: general rules and regulations in compliance with the ATCB code of ethics and conduct; expectations for frequency and nature of sessions; cancellation policies of supervisory meetings; financial arrangements and policies for termination of services.
